

Abstract Of The Disclosure

An impact sensor is proposed, which includes a compressible medium, which changes its conductivity as a function of the compression, the impact sensor, as a function of the change in the conductivity, emitting a signal that is indicative of a parameter characteristic of an impact.

5